A TERRIBLE SCOURGING.

Grove L. Johnson Describes the De Youngs of the "Chronicle."

Grove L. Johnson in his speech last Saturday at San Francisco on the Reed-Cull-Bulletin libel suit, took the time to draw a picture of the De Youngs of the Chronicle and their place in society. It is one of the most fearful pieces of invective that we have ever seen, and gets much of its force from the undeniable truth:

Society repudiates them! The upper classes drive them from their doors with policemen; the middle classes kick them out; the lower classes drive them from their homes; the male and female hoodlums consider it an insult to have their names or their characters associated with that of the De Youngs. The woman's reputation is blasted who is seen in their company. They are moral lepers, revolting to all they meet, disgusting to themselves, loathsome in life and degraded in death. But through the decree of the Almighty, who moves in a mysterious way his wonders to perform, such things as these are controlling newspapers, and such a newspaper—the San Francisco Chronicle. A newspaper, sir, to be a reformer should at least make a pretense of cleanliness. But the San Francisco Chronicle never made such. It boasts of its wickedness. It glories in its sin. It clothes itself in its filth, drinks of its nastiness, and parades itself before the world content with its own wickedness. The Chronicle is the bottom of all that is low. It never arises above the plane of degraded journalism. It has grown up on blackmailing. Like its proprietors, it is ashamed of its origin and its name; like its proprietors, it is bestial in its influence and depraved in its thoughts; vicious in its action; and exists a monument of wickedness; a disgrace to the city and state and the nation; a libel on journalism; a fraud upon the people. It is the assignment sheet of the people. It corrupts the young and debases the aged. Its slime is poured into the household, and its personal ruin happy homes. It is a self-appointed partner of prostitution. It is venal in its instincts, selling itself, selling itself so many times as that it believes in the trade. It libels people for pay. It sells destruction by the line. It barbers faith by the column. It keeps open shop for the sale of its opinion as other people sell wheat and bread. It boasts of being a barlet, with no excuse that it was by others seduced from virtue, and it reveals in its sin and shame and plumes itself upon its bestial crimes. It tries to convince the courts that newspapers have a right to sell their opinion, but, thank God, it failed to debate the courts of California to that extent. The paper, sir, has become a common sewer, for pay from others, to sling venom and exude filth upon persons they know not. It is a foul sewer, too. It is never clean. It is worse than those that stink the streets of San Francisco. It is a moral sewer, injuring all and benefiting none. It drips poison from every line. It breeds fever with every column. It vitiate public sentiment. It panders to the slums of society. It creates private trouble and private discontent. It attacks editors and newspapers. It offends against all rules of society. It is brutal in its editorial; indecent in its advertisements; libellous in its every issue. It is an assassin for hire; a money-making destroyer of character; a wicked traducer of strangers for coin; conceived in the corrupt brains of the De Youngs, who never did and who never can know honor or decency.

It exists simply, sir, that mankind may learn how mean and low other men and newspapers may become. The De Youngs are the only living men that could publish such a paper. They are fit proprietors of such an indecent publication. In earlier days these De Youngs might have been liars for Appius Claudius, perjury themselves to consign Virginius to his fate. They might have been foul tools and persecutors for others, as new for themselves. In other times they might have been Fabian's teachers.

Eureka Leader Jan. 11th: She came to Eureka several weeks ago under the name of Miss Julia Ganger, or at least that was her name as it appeared among the list of arrivals. She was a young lady of perhaps nineteen, good looking and prepossessing in appearance. After her arrival she obtained a situation at a hotel, but bent on a life which could only result in her ultimate shame, and still too diffident to enter publicly upon such a course, she shifted from one place to another, seeking a livelihood. She found employment at different houses with a like result, and was about to embark on a life of wretchedness, when word was received by her mother from her parents in San Francisco, pleading for efforts to bring her home. She was hunted up, and by kind words and due persuasion, was induced to return to her home. It is hoped a wiser and better girl.

Man vs. Horse—Horse Wins. Chicago, January 11.—The contest between Geo. Guyon and the stallion Hading, Jr., ended at 11 o'clock to-night. During the fifty-two hours the horse had covered 201 miles and the man 149 miles. Both were in good condition at the finish.

STATE NEWS.

In about two weeks the south lateral branch of the Butte tunnel will reach the Julia mine.

At no time in the history of Eureka has so much attention been given to any school examination as has been paid to the one just finished.

A private letter from Belleville, received at Carson on the 8th inst., states that Charles E. Buck, Secretary of the Northern Belle Mining Company, shot and killed Levi Keithly, keeper in the company's office, on the 4th inst.

Says the Gold Hill News of Jan. 11: Miss Margaret Fitzgerald, who lived near the New York mine, died at 4 o'clock Wednesday very suddenly. Coroner Brodek held an inquest on her body last evening, and although the verdict was death from natural causes, William Bower who had been living with her and who the neighbors say kicked her violently, the day before her death, has been held to answer.

Just after the change of shift this morning at the O. & C. shaft a miner named Wilkin, who had worked but a few shifts at the shaft, was severely injured by a rock falling down the shaft and striking him on the head, fracturing his skull. He was alive at 1 o'clock this afternoon, but is not expected to recover. The stone fell from the surface and was thrown over a car being loaded at some distance from the shaft. It weighed four pounds and struck Wilkin on the right side of the head, completely crushing it in.

Elko Independent: We wish to urge upon the Nevada fish commissioners the propriety of placing a portion of that 200,000 young salmon which he has in his possession, in the Humboldt. The presumption is that it is his intention to do so, but as several papers have stated that it was the intention to put them in the Truckee and Walker rivers, we would like to have the commissioners inform the public authoritatively what he does intend to do with the fish.

The scarcity of diamonds, gold and silver, and the difficulties met with in securing them, is a sure indication of their value. Thus it is with a valuable medicine: Dr. Ang. Kaiser's celebrated German Pulmonic Kikizer, through the jealousy of rivals, has met with the most bitter opposition, and apparently almost insurmountable obstacles have been thrown in its way; but its opponents might as well try to change the course of the sun, sweep back the ocean with a broom, or put out a private fire with a test. For the cure of Throat and Lung diseases, such as Coughs, Colds, Consumption and Bronchial Affections it is unequalled. Its cures are truly magical. Ask your druggist, OSBURN & SHOEMAKER, for it. A CONUNDRUM.—"You are a mule, sir," said an Irishman to his son. "And you are my father, sir," was the quick reply. "and it is no use to deny the relationship." The old gentleman attempted to assume a severe look, but a faint smile stole over his face, and to reward the wit of his son, went to S. N. Davidson's Jewelry Store and selected one of the finest Watches and Chains for him as a Christmas present. They both were made happy, as the son returned the compliment again. d13t

SIMMOND'S

NABOB WHISKEY.

Consumers are referred to the following extract from the report of an eminent Public Analyst:

This is a pure barley and wheat spirit, remarkable for its fragrant aroma, which imparts a delicate aroma, at the same time greatly increasing its value as a digestive stimulant. The solid residue contains a large amount of tannin, derived from storing in oak casks, which imparts to fine old whisky one of its valuable individual qualities. The amount of the residue proves the whisky to be free from the excessive coloring and sweetening so generally used in adulterating. In fact, it is two words, it is the PUREST WHISKY, and will not only supply a public want, now that whiskies are so generally adulterated, but will be of the greatest value to the physician in those numerous cases where pure whiskies are the most useful of all medicines. OUR AGRICULTURAL RESOURCES.

Referring to a recent article in the San Francisco Bulletin advising the press of the state to imitate the Gazette in the matter of giving information concerning the resources of the part of Nevada in which they are published, the Elko Post of Saturday last observes:

It is doubtless true, as the San Francisco Bulletin says, that the editors of Nevada give too little attention to making known the natural resources of the country nearest their homes. We are well aware that our state has always been considered as comparatively useless for anything except its mines and stock ranges; but such certainly is not the case. While it is a fact that ours is essentially a mineral-bearing country, and that mining will always be a leading industry, it is also true that the agricultural interests, if properly attended to, will in time become prominent and pay better than mining for the precious metals. The land in nearly all the valleys of this state is susceptible of being brought into a high state of cultivation, but this can only be accomplished by the expenditure of time and money, which too many of our so-called farmers do not seem disposed to bestow. We know that in Elko county there are thousands of acres of good arable land, and capable of producing enough cereals and vegetables to supply the present population of the entire state. And yet people are obliged to send abroad for the very articles which ought to be, but are not, produced by Nevada farmers. Occasionally a man is found who, in addition to energy and application, brings intelligence into play, and utilizes everything that can possibly enhance the value of his property and make it produce largely; he is called lucky; but often farming operations are conducted in such a loose, slipshod manner that the agricultural class in this state are less prosperous than they might be. Our agricultural resources are almost boundless, and sooner or later, when understood and appreciated, Nevada will be rated higher for something else than silver and gold.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It is not best, says the Amador, Cal., Times, to overrate the signs of promise in the internees at Washington. Chinese gold is a potent argument with venal lobbyists and law makers; there are no sycophants on the face of the earth more abject than the Eastern merchants whose interests the state department seems to regard as paramount. These elements will combine to oppress the people of the Pacific coast, and the yoke will continue to gall our necks if we do not insist upon its immediate removal. Before another congress meets the presidential election will have been decided, and having used California the successful party will throw it away like a squeezed lemon, and the defeated party will kick it aside. "Hereditary bondsmen, know ye not, who would be free, himself must strike the blow!"

THE O'BRIEN MYSTERY.

The report that P. S. O'Brien, the brother of the deceased millionaire, has gone to Monte Park, on a visit to his sister Mrs. MacDonald, who is contradicted by Mr. MacDonald, who with his family, is residing at the Baldwin. Mr. MacDonald professes to be in utter ignorance of Mr. O'Brien's movements, and was not aware that Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien occupied the rooms adjoining when he moved to the hotel with his family. Mr. MacDonald does not believe that any change has been made in the arrangement of the late Mr. O'Brien's estate, whereby his brother receives a portion, nor does he think that the brother has any legal claim, though the family would not see him without means while they possessed any themselves. While the O'Briens were at the Baldwin, both Mrs. Coleman and Mrs. MacDonald desired greatly to see their long lost brother, but were refused the privilege. Mrs. MacDonald, in an interview with a Call reporter, said she would try again; but she was refused admission, only to learn a few hours afterward that he had gone. Mr. O'Brien is a little above the medium height, and slim, with dark complexion. His hair and beard, formerly black, are tinged with gray. He is very weak and debilitated, weighing less than 130 pounds, but at one time weighed over 175.

REPUBLICAN SENATORIAL CAUCUS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—A long and important caucus was held by Republican senators this afternoon devoted to a discussion of a motion made by Edmunds. It is that a committee should be appointed to draw a resolution expressing the approval of the senate of resumption of specie payments, and a determination to preserve the present currency system, untouched and unchanged. It was represented in the caucus that the law fixing the date for resumption originated in the Republican senate, and now that the senate was about to become Democratic a party record should be made upon the subject. A committee, of Edmunds and four other senators, was appointed to draft a resolution, which will, it is understood, express approval of the National Banks, and is certain to lead to extended debate.

MOONSHINERS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Eight stills have been seized in Stanley county, North Carolina, and eight distillers arrested. One of the raiding party was shot. Seizures were also made at Bennettsville and Walhalla, South Carolina, but the property taken at that place was recaptured by a band of Georgians.

DEATH SENTENCE COMMUTED.

St. John, Jan. 11.—Mrs. Ward, sentenced to be hanged on Tuesday next, with Thomas Dowd, for the murder of her husband, has had her sentence commuted to seven years' imprisonment.

DANGEROUS ILLNESS OF THOMAS LORD.

New York, Jan. 11.—Thomas Lord, whose marriage with Mrs. Hicks a year ago created such a sensation, is reported to be at the point of death. He is about eighty-five years of age.

the large class of destitute and neglected children who are growing up in ignorance and training for future crime. The principal features of the bill are to provide reports as to the number of children receiving no education; for the enforcement of existing laws in relation to the employment of children, and for the provision in each county of homes for the friendless children, to which habitual truants, young vagrants and children who are receiving no education may be committed by proper officers of the law.

What a bright, faithful, vigilant lot those San Francisco detectives are. Witness this from the Call of Sunday:

"Edward Ewald is pretty well known in this city. For some years he has been an active worker at elections and a not infrequent visitor at the City hall. For some days he has not answered in person rings at his door-bell, and inquiries have failed to summon him from his unwonted privacy. But newspaper reporters have found him, and he has favored one or more of our contemporaries with his views on matters pertaining to the public schools. Singular to relate, the police are quite unable to find this man who is everywhere except in the place being searched. Meantime rumors that Ewald is not really wanted on the witness stand are somewhat prevalent."

Dr. O'Donnell has not been expelled from the California constitutional convention. O'Donnell was as well known in San Francisco before the Kearnyites elected him as he is now. He is a good representative of the intelligence, refinement and morality of his constituents.

The Gold Hill News is the most versatile of journals. The local clergy write to it for light on points of theology and its views on poker are quoted with respect from one end of the country to the other.

It is not our style to go off at half-cock but we really should like to see the prayers of the evangelical churches begin to have some effect upon that buccaneer on the sea of morals, the Stockton Herald.

The Eureka Leader is in favor of the adoption by Eureka of the plan of limited incorporation sketched the other day by the GAZETTE for Reno.

THAWED BACK FROM DEATH.

(From the Joplin, Mo., Herald.)

From a lady who arrived at the St. James hotel Saturday from the central portion of Arkansas, we learn the particulars of an affair which possesses many features of interest, and to the medical profession in particular. The lady left her home at the beginning of the present cold snap, with the intention of coming to Joplin, and there being no other conveyance, was compelled to make the entire trip by stage. The only passenger in the stage with her was a man, very thinly clad. While crossing the Boston mountains he complained very much of the cold, and in fact the weather was remarkably cold, even to the top of those mountains. After awhile he apparently fell asleep. Arriving at the station on the north side of the mountains, the driver attempted to awaken the passenger, but to his horror found him frozen stiff and apparently dead. He was taken out of the hack and placed in a room, which was rather cold, though not as low as the freezing point by several degrees. The lady remained at the station until next day, and just as she was preparing to resume her journey, was surprised to learn that signs life had been detected in the supposed dead man, who was to have been buried that forenoon. True enough, signs of life were plain to be observed, and by lively rubbing with flannels saturated with whiskey for about an hour he was able to speak. When the lady left he was fast recovering from his stupor, and she has no doubt that by this time he has fully recovered. Had he continued in that condition three hours longer, he would doubtless have been buried, as all thought he was dead. Being placed in a room of just the right temperature no doubt assisted his recovery.

ICE GORGE IN JAMES RIVER.

RICHMOND, Jan. 11.—The ice gorge extends from Richmond bar to Graveyard—nine miles. At the latter place ice is reported packed to the bottom of the river, at least twenty-five feet deep. Navigation is stopped and probably for some time. The water is subsiding.

BE SURE YOU'RE RIGHT.

Bishop Whitaker on Self-Deception—A Clear-Cut Sermon.

Last evening Bishop Whitaker preached an excellent sermon from the words, "Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his." Breaking away from all at the end of his text he read a lesson on matters of every day life which should have been heard by everyone. He said:

THE HISTORY OF BALAM

though striking and picturesque is very mournful. That a man so high minded, so clear in his perceptions of truth and duty, should so wretchedly fail in living up to his ideal, is the saddest thing in his history. He knew as well as any man who ever lived that he ought to honor and obey God, that he not only knew it, but he had as vivid a sense of the heart of a righteous life as any post ever had. He felt the dignity of a righteous life, and the glory of a righteous death. He felt the unreality and worthlessness of earthly wealth and honor, as contrasted with the consciousness of integrity and uprightness. And yet he utterly failed to carry out these ideas in his life. He experienced the misery of feeling that he was superior to Balaak, yet Balaak despised him because he had been what he was.

A MAN WHO HAD HIS PRICE.

With the closest perceptions of duty, he refused to do his duty; with the grandest opportunity of leaving behind him a noble name, he threw the opportunity away. And yet he was all the time persuading himself that he was doing right. He tried repeatedly to get God's permission to do what he knew was wrong, evidently with the idea that if God's consent could be obtained it would then be right for him to do the wrong which he desired; just as many people now have a superstitious belief that the church, or the King, or congress can make wrong into right by passing a law. There is too much belief in the world that might makes right, but right and wrong are not matters of decree. Right is right and wrong is wrong, whoever may consent to or whoever may deny. Balaam thought he was asking God to tell him what to do when he was really trying to make God tell that what he had made up his mind to do was right. This is the spirit in which most persons ask advice of their friends; not to find out what is right and then to do it, but to get confirmation in the course they have decided upon, whether it is right or not.

PRESIDENT LINCOLN

said to the ministers of several religious denominations who came to him urging him to issue the proclamation of emancipation, on the ground that they wished to have the Lord on their side. He replied that he was not nearly so much concerned about that as about something else. Greatly shocked at what they thought was irreverence they asked what that was and he answered: "It gives me more concern to be sure that I am on the Lord's side." That is in accordance with which we should seek to decide all questions of duty. Not to get God to approve what we want but to find out what God wants us to do. That is the spirit of real prayer. We should get God not to get our duty changed but to find out what our duty is. We should be careful when we ask His counsel and help not to try to fortify the position we have taken, but to ascertain what He has for us to do. We should not seek to get Him on our side, but to find out what side He is on and to take our stand there with Him.

WHAT GOD REQUIRES.

Balaam thought he was conscientious, but he was not. He acted up to his standard, it is true, and in the judgment of the common world that is enough. But God requires not merely that we shall act up to the standard we have, but that our standard shall be correct. You would not for an instant admit the plea from a man who had given you short weight that it was full weight according to his scales, but you would demand of him that his scales should weigh true. Even the worst men are willing to follow their conscience up to the point where conscience comes in conflict with self-interest. But he only is truly conscientious who persists in doing right when it is at the sacrifice of self-interest. Balaam's history is full of warning for every age and for us it teaches the danger of obscuring the distinction between right and wrong; of tampering with the conscience; of seeking to have our own way regardless of God's way for us. It warns us that if we would die the death of the righteous we must live a righteous life.

Some Style About It.

The Reno GAZETTE issued a model New Year number. The GAZETTE is one of the very best papers on the coast. The presence of the master hand of a trained journalist is manifest in many ways. The skill of the genuine newspaper man is something that pervades the columns of a paper like the GAZETTE in tokens that are felt as well as seen. This subtle essence of newspaper skill shows itself in every column of the GAZETTE.

Funerals at Bedie.

This dreadful disease is committing great ravages in Bedie. On Sunday the 4th inst. five victims were buried and two or three funerals per day occur from the same cause.

WHEW!

Which Expresses the General Opinion of the Weather.

These who have been wishing for real winter weather are satisfied now. Yesterday morning the town woke up to find between three and four inches of snow upon the ground, and sleigh bells were soon jingling and reminding the poor of their poverty. The day proved a warm one and part of the snow melted, but after sundown the mercury tumbled down stairs, as it might be, and last night was a nipper from Prosser creek. This morning the town was enveloped in a dense white mist, which went for the marrow of Reno and caused the family man to lift up his voice in mangled texts as he skipped out of bed to light the fire and prepare the atmosphere for the reception of the lady who complacently viewed his naked misery from the warm security of the bed. At 7 o'clock the mercury toed the mark at six degrees below zero. By 10 o'clock it had risen twelve degrees and the sun crystallized the mist and the air was filled with fine frozen particles which came down like miniature snowflakes, as they were. The river, or that part of it not frozen over, steamed in the cold air as if it were on the point of boiling. Sleighs have been skimming about during the day and very young men have rejoiced, for the reason that careful breathing through the nose caused each hair to stand out quite visible in a snowy covering. The mountains look rich in future water, and the hills to the north, south and east are also standing advertisements for the author of "Beautiful Snow."

Shooting at Pyramid Lake.

Yesterday a shooting affray occurred at Pyramid Lake which only by a piece of good luck did not result in murder. Two fishermen, one Sherman and Joseph King, were playing cards. They were alone and presumably, drinking. Little is known of the circumstances which moved Sherman to pull a pistol and lead drive at King's breast. The shot was a good one. It took King near the left nipple and would have killed him on the spot but for the fortunate fact that the ball glanced on a rib and ran under the skin to the back, without doing any serious injury. King was brought to Reno last night, his home being here, and Dr. Bergman was sent for. The Dr. soon found the ball and took it out. He thinks that with proper care King will be all right again in the course of a week or ten days. It is reported that Sherman has fled and that King has no desire to prosecute him, being only too thankful that he escaped with his life. The men were good friends and were in each other's company a good deal.

Rough on Judge Blank.

"Why don't you go and see Judge Blank about it?" asked a citizen this morning of an anxious looking man who asked advice about collecting from a tough debtor. "Judge Blank!" cried the anxious one, "Blank Judge Blank! I don't want him for my lawyer—no sir, not to recover damages for being hit by a hairless dog. He's way up, is he? Well, he kin stay way up. I had a case on in the justice's court an' had him for my lawyer. He lost it an' appealed it to the district court, an' he got hot there an' called the judge a bat-bottomed jiff an' went to jail for it. I wanted the fool to carry it to the supreme court, in the hope that he'd get himself hung, an' he was afraid he would an' I couldn't get him to stir a peg. I'll collect with a shotgun afore I bother with Blank."

Partial Grand Jury Report.

The grand jury appeared before Judge King in the district court this forenoon and made a partial report. They reported that they had found two indictments, one for altering and passing counterfeit gold nuggets, and the other for assault with intent to kill. There being other business requiring the attention of the jury they asked leave to sit again, which the court granted. The indictment for assault with intent to kill is against John Mulvihill, who attempted to shoot Charles Gilchrist at Brown's. The other is against John Martin, the pious old fraud who was captured several weeks ago with a lot of bogus jewelry and nuggets in his possession, after having swindled several persons.

Commendable Enterprise.

The Reno GAZETTE came to us New Year's day in an enlarged form, filled with original matter relating to the resources of Washoe county. An original story is well told by the author, free from that mawkish sentiment that so frequently mars such articles. We are pleased to notice at this late day, such commendable enterprise, and offer congratulations to the proprietors and the patrons whose interests it advocates.

A Center Shot.

Pechner & Coleman, the Virginia street barbers, to-day have erected a mammoth sign in front of their establishment setting forth their new mode of prices—shaving, hair-cutting and shampooing each twenty-five cents, and three bath tickets for one dollar. This reduction to one-half the usual rates fills Pechner & Coleman's hand some shop with customers all day long.

The celebrated illuminator.

attach- ment for lamps can be attached to any lamp. He needs of chimney. Illuminator and burner complete for $1.25. For sale by O'Brien & Thompson.

Tuscarora Items.

Welch, the man who was blown up in the Independence mine at Tuscarora last Thursday, by a premature discharge of giant powder, was literally torn to pieces. His remains were brought to the surface in a sack and presented a most sickening appearance.

The Argenta mine at Tuscarora is crushing ore at the Independence mill, and holders of the stock are jubilant over the prospects of big bullion shipments. They have recently struck a very rich body of ore in this mine and dividends in the near future are almost assured.

The recent snow storm, which only condescended to leave two or three inches of snow in Reno, managed to drop about 12 or 14 inches of the beautiful round Tuscarora and as far down as Elko.

Grand Prize has struck it rich and the miners are sending carloads of solid ruby silver.

New buildings are going up on the burned district and carpenters are in big demand. This shows confidence in the future of the camp on the part of somebody.

Lumber.

C. A. Bragg's lumber yard is one of the most complete in the state. He has a large and excellent stock gathered from Oregon, the coast range, Sierra valley and other places where special kinds of material are produced. Mr. Bragg is one of the oldest lumber men in Nevada and has special facilities besides the advantage of long experience.

Of Interest to Smokers.

Smokers who appreciate a good article should visit the handsome establishment of E. Meyer, Manning and Duck's building. Everything that a user of the weed can possibly desire is kept there and all the goods are of first-class quality. Cigars, chewing and smoking tobacco, meerschaum pipes, cigar holders, amber goods etc kept constantly on hand.

Unusually Interesting.

[Lassen Advocate.] The Reno daily GAZETTE of Dec. 31, is an unusually interesting eight page paper, reflecting great credit upon the proprietors. All the reading matter was entirely original, giving correct ideas in reference to that rapidly growing town. We copy on our first page a well written letter descriptive of the country in this vicinity.

Important to the Ladies.

Well Brothers, of the Virginia street cloak house will shortly go East for a new stock, which will be here in March. The reputation of this house is established and Messrs. Well have built up a fine business in Reno. We advise the ladies to wait for this new stock of cloaks instead of purchasing inferior articles elsewhere.

Talk is Cheap.

And so are fine clothing, boots shoes, hats and gentlemen's and boys fine furnishings goods. If you go to the right place to get them. This is a mighty important point, for some people who assert that they sell cheap do nothing of the kind. I do not boast when I say that I defy competition in prices in anything in my line. Besides this I have only one price. I have no preferred customers. Everybody is treated alike at my establishment. My stock is the largest and most complete ever offered in any part of this State. Everything I have is new. No old, musty and out-of-date goods can be found on my shelves. I receive daily by rail and express the latest and best goods, which are obtained at first hand and sold at prices below those now prevailing in New York and Chicago. Let the people come and judge of my prices and examine my stock before going into those humbugging, Cheap John shops, in which they drum into the ear of the customer that they sell at cost and even below cost. Anybody with common sense must know that they lie. No storekeeper sells goods for the fun of the thing. I make a profit on everything I sell, as every honest merchant does, and don't print foolish falsehoods in the vain hope of deceiving the public. One must make a profit to live. I particularly call attention to my full stock of fine underwear, such as is kept nowhere else in Reno. This class of goods form one of my specialties. Remember the place, The White House, No. 19, Commercial Row. Orders from the country promptly attended to.

L. ANNAHANS.

White House, Reno.

A STRANGER from Wadsworth rolled down street to-day in search of a place to spend his coin. A gentleman with oil on his hair accosted him, as follows: "I say, my friend, come in. Your hair was a heck long, don't it? You better get it cut, ain't it? Only two bits."

The stranger replied: "My hair may be long, but my memory is, too. I remember that I felt like a new-born babe when Friedman, the 'Boss Barber,' shaved me. I see his sign across the street down yonder, and his prices are low enough for me. Good day."

Summons.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE Second Judicial District of the State of Nevada, in and for the county of Washoe. The State of Nevada sends to Arden Jones greeting: You are hereby required to appear in an action commenced by and against you defendant by Jennings Jones as plaintiff in the District Court of the Second Judicial District in and for the county of Washoe, State of Nevada, and answer the complaint therein within ten days after the service on you of this Summons, (exclusive of the day of service), if served in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county, but within said district, and in all other cases forty days; or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The said action is brought to obtain a decree dissolving the bonds of matrimony heretofore and now existing between plaintiff and defendant. Plaintiff alleges: That plaintiff and defendant intermarried at Mono County, California, on or about July 29th, A. D. 1913, and ever since have been and now are husband and wife; that on or about September 23rd, A. D. 1913, you, the defendant, willfully deserted and abandoned plaintiff, and ever since have so continued and do now so continue to desert, abandon and live apart from the plaintiff against her will, wish or consent; that for more than a year past proceeding the commencement of this action you, the defendant, have failed and neglected and now do fail and neglect to provide for the plaintiff the common necessities of life, which neglect is and was not the result of poverty on your part which you could not have avoided by ordinary industry; that there are no children living of the issue of said marriage and no common property. Plaintiff prays to be restored to her maiden name and for costs, all of which will more fully appear from the complaint which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court at Reno, in said county. And you are further notified, that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded.

In testimony whereof, I, F. B. COMSTOCK, Clerk of the District Court of the Second Judicial District, Nevada, in and for Washoe county, do hereby certify the date of this said summons, to-wit: January 14th, 1914.

Perilous Position of a Miner.
[Eureka Leader, 10th.]
A miner named Edward Dana, part owner in a location on Prospect mountain, had a narrow escape from death Tuesday last. Together with his partner he had sunk a shaft 180 feet deep but at the time of the accident was working in a drift some 70 feet from the bottom. A rude platform had been constructed over the shaft, at the mouth of the drift, upon which the ore taken was wheeled out and dumped into the shaft. Dana had accumulated to employ the two men in hoisting it to the surface. Too much weight had been placed upon the boards, and when Dana brought out an additional load the supports gave way, precipitating wheelbarrow, boards and ore to the bottom. He fell forward but luckily caught one of the side timbers that remained in place, and there he hung. He gripped his fingers into the wood with all the frantic energy of despair, and used his best endeavors to draw himself up, but without avail. Finding that his struggles were weakening him, he quit the effort and hung on for dear life, contenting himself with yelling lustily to his companion, who was at least 100 feet away in the drift. Fortunately his cries were heard, relief came, and he was rescued from his dangerous position, but not until he swears, he swung there for half an hour, although his partner insists that it was only a few minutes. Dana's swollen fingers and torn nails testify to the death grip he had on that piece of timber.

A Cavern in a Mine.
[Eureka Leader, Jan. 10th.]
Frank Robbins informs us that the miners at the Kit Carson broke into a large cave yesterday in the lower workings. It has not been thoroughly explored yet, but its dimensions are huge, the party penetrating it some eighty feet. At the bottom a pool of water was found, over a foot in depth, and having a perceptible current; quite a stream in fact. Beautiful stalactites abound, and some very handsome specimens were brought to town. The cavern will be opened in a few days, when a more elaborate description of it will be given.

Hideous Cheek.
[Stockton Herald, 10th.]
To-day in conformity with the instructions of the Evangelical Alliance, all christendom is unanimously praying for the public press, its editors, publishers, reporters and id genus omne. There was never a larger or more favorable opportunity for a direct and unequivocal answer to prayer than is thereby offered. Professor Tyndall with the prayer-gauge and all the skepticism of his class to the contrary notwithstanding. From this time forward the readers of the Reno Gazette and Virginia Chronicle will undoubtedly notice a marked improvement in the moral tone of those papers.
